

Training certificate Yan Hülsebusch

Mr. Yan Hülsebusch, born on 15 December 1995 in Bremen-Nord, has been successfully completed his training as IT specialist specialising in application development from 01.08.2016 to 19.06.2019 at our company.

de:sign.de is an agency for web and app development. We develop numerous web solutions, such as websites, online shops, but also interactive solutions, such as games. For the main area of app programming we have created our own outsourced landing page: www.apps-agency.com.

During his training Mr. Hülsebusch worked primarily in web and app development. His areas of responsibility included among others:

- Frontend development with Webpack, Node.js, Ionic, Angular, Vue, SCSS, HTML, TS/JS and C#
- Backend development with Node.js, Express, MongoDB database administration, handling Linux server (Ubuntu)
- Game development with Unity, Game Maker: Studio, Construct and Phaser
- Version management with GIT
- Troubleshooting, analysis and correction with Unit-Test

Due to his very reliable, precise and success-oriented way of working, Mr. Hülsebusch already took on numerous projects independently during his training. In particular, he showed that holistic thinking, the development of problem-solving strategies and the ability to make independent decisions are among his personal strengths. Due to his great know-how in the field of web and app development, his organizational talent as well as his very good time management, Mr. Hülsebusch always managed to master the tasks assigned to him to our complete satisfaction and thus to contribute to the success of the project.

Mr. Hülsebusch brought in his own ideas and showed a high degree of motivation in achieving the set goals. In addition, he was distinguished by his pronounced commitment and willingness to perform, whereby his work commitment far exceeded the normal level. We were therefore always extremely satisfied with the quality and quantity of his work.

His behaviour towards superiors and colleagues was always impeccable. Mr. Hülsebusch was perceived by the employees as a very pleasant colleague due to his friendly and open-minded nature as well as his reliable way of working.

Unfortunately, Mr Hülsebusch left the company at his own request. We thank him for his very good performance and wish him continued success in his professional and private life.
